I first borrowed this book from the local public library and enjoyed it so much that I had to have a copy of my own. I have been busy collecting and deconstructing wool garments from the Goodwill in order to make some of the felted projects. If you enjoy crafts, you will enjoy this book. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Because we love thrifting and repurposing so much... By Holly S. This is a great book for me AND my kids (daughter 11 and son 6), who both started thrifting with me at an early age. The reason: there are several great instructional projects for them! My son handsews and could easily make the scarf on the cover and the coasters and trivet. My daughter has just learned to machine sew... the pillowcase skirt and dress, and the organic baby quilt and washies are fairly simple yet give great results. They could easily collaborate on the applique pillows and the produce bags (they could even cut veggies to use for stamping). All in all this is one fantastic book!0 of 0 people found the following review helpful.

Four StarsBy Patricia JenksLiked it but directions could have been a little clearer

By its nature, do-it-yourself sewing is environmentally friendly. In Sewing Green, Betz White takes stitching to an even higher level of sustainability, presenting 25 projects made from "repurposed" thrift-store and back-of-the-closet finds and organic fabrics.
