Catherine Harper, Doran Ross : Textile Volume 9 Issue 3: The Journal of Cloth Culture before purchasing it in order to gauge whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Textile Volume 9 Issue 3: The Journal of Cloth Culture:

This exciting journal brings together research in textiles in an innovative and distinctive academic forum, and will be of interest to all those who share a multifaceted view of textiles within an expanded field. Representing a dynamic and wide-ranging set of critical practices, it provides a platform for points of departure between art and craft; gender and identity; cloth, body and architecture; labor and technology; techno-design and practice - all situated within the broader contexts of material and visual culture.

This journal has a lot going for it. It is easy to handle, well printed on good paper, imaginatively designed. Any university or college with an interest in textiles should subscribe to it and make it easily available. For individual scholars and makers, the journal provides a useful resource and will be a pleasure to collect and possess. Times Higher Education
