The Ridley siblings put a lot of imagination into their characters in this enjoyable comic coloring book, and the storyline is clever. The anti-hero cat Fritzapaw and his companions decide to drain the ocean and get all the fish; the hero dog Nuzzle and his sidekick Luigi stumble upon the plot and set out to foil it. It's good clean fun. The text, while completely suited to the comic book format, will also give young readers a chance to expand their vocabularies a bit, but the humor is ongoing and they will not feel they have been handed a schoolbook masquerading as something else. Warning: it will make you crave donuts!

It is refreshing to see four kids create a work like this. The storyline, art and presentation will appeal to all kids and parents seeking creative entertainment. I would recommend this as a learning tool and "just for fun" readers.

THE FISH CAPER or THE NET RESULTS is the title of this nail-biting episode of the comic coloring book adventures from the precocious graphic talents of the Siblings Ridley. Follow the tracks of hero paladin dog, Nuzzle, and his donut-addicted sidekick, Luigi, as they pursue from page to page their villainous cat nemesis, Fritzapaw, and his insidious minions, Snagtail and Hacow, in a perilously hilarious quest to thwart the criminal genius Fritzapaw's latest nefarious plot to drain the ocean and harvest all the fish as cat food, while simultaneously demolishing the dog treat vending machines, which are the main source of nourishment for the dauntless hero hounds.
